

READERS' CHOICE

Top 10 In Executive Coaches

Each month, Women's Business asks readers for nominations to create a Top 10 list in a particular category. In this issue, we present our region's top executive coaches. Following are the dynamic professionals who provide the top-notch guidance that readers rely on for their personal and professional development.

Lee Estridge

Owner

Lee Estridge & Associates

"Lee had been working with several of our senior staff when I was offered an opportunity to work with her to strengthen my interactions with peers and management. She introduced me to the Enneagram approach of understanding personal behaviors, both mine and that of others, and how to relate to and leverage the personality traits. I am in a much better place now, with added responsibilities, respect and improved productivity."
